Description:

Annihilation Strike?: Yes.

Description: This creature appears to be a dragon-like creature with multiple heads.

Eye color: Orange with red vertical pupils (like that of a cat).

Eye shape: Large and slanted.

Height: 20'-0"

Length: 58'-0"

Skin color: Lava-red.

Skin texture: Course, hard (scales)

Posture: Quadruped (an animal with four feet)

Weight: 9,000 lbs.

Dislikes: Water. Water will be instinctively avoided unless cornered.

Disposition: The Pyrran Hydra is a terrible creature to behold. It loves to indulge itself in the searing heat of flame, lava and deep pools of magma within the earth. Hot and searing temperatures will cause this great beast to become active and lively. It dislikes intruders, and will always investigate any intrusion it notices. It will protect its territory at any cost, especially if a dragon enters into its domain. If it encounters a Pyrran Hydra, or a Pyrran Phoenix, it will ignore the encounter, for these species naturally coexist.

See: "Special Abilities".

Fears: Water. See: "Susceptibilities"

Habitat: Volcanic (subterranean fire sources only).

Immunities: Fear. Fire and heat-based spells and abilities. Pain. Poison. Shock.

Life-span: 4 ages (4,000 years).

Likes: Cold, dark, waters (especially underground).

Needs: This creature must have a permanent source of heat to survive by. If its source of heat depletes, it will set out in search of another, all the while losing 3-D10 damage-points per fortnight until it finds a permanent heat source.

Note: Concerning Mental-Strength: Notice that each head has Mental-strength. If a mind or mental struggle, requiring an avoidance-roll vs. "Mental-Attack" is demanded, each head will have the chance to avoid successfully. If one head succeeds, they all will. All must fail in order for a mental-attack to effect this creature. This is what makes this creature so mentally durable and fearless.

Concerning Oxygen-points: This creature breathes fire, lava, magma and air. Oxygen-points are given in case it can breath none of these elements.

Special Abilities: Hydra-Regeneration: If a head of this creature is chopped off, it will grow its head back in 1-D4 +1 turns. To keep this from happening, cold damage must be inflicted to the neck at the point where the head was severed, causing no less than 100 points of damage. If this can be accomplished, its head will never grow back.

Night-vision: As the Psychic spell.

Special Defenses: Resistances: Magic: 45%, Mental-Attack: 10% (check for resistance success for each head; if one succeeds, they all do).

Special Offenses: Lavature: Each head will spew a ball of flame that will effect the space it strikes and all surrounding spaces joined to that space (15' radius). Damage: 1-D10 x6 heat damage in 1-D4 areas of each target's body.

Susceptibilities: Cold causes x2 damage on the Pyrran Hydra. If drenched, the fire ability of Lavature will be extinguished for 1-D4 turns.

Weapon susceptibility: Rank-4 (or better) magical weapon to harm.
