Explanation: When this potion is consumed, the imbiber will fall deeply in love with the first creature he or she lays has a deep conversation with. This love will be strictly up to the G.M. to decide.

G.M.: Love comes in many ways. A brother would love a brother in a bond of unbreakable loyalty. A young man would love an elderly woman or man as a grandparent, thus developing a strong bond and family tie. A young woman would fall deeply in love with a man as an eternal companion; to live her life with him through the good times and the bad (her loyalty would be unshaken by any trial – and such would be the case if a young man imbibed a Love Potion and fell in love with a young woman). A dwarf would love a monster as a companion at arms; one in which he or she would die to save at a high cost and risk. There are many shapes and forms of true love eternal, and the power of this awesome potion will bring this love out in any creature that drinks it.
