

Defensive Section

This is how well you are versed in defense.

When you defend against the attack of another, you will roll 1-D100 and add the following to that roll:

Your current Coordination

Any misc. adjustments you might have

This will be your defensive evasion-roll. You will have to roll higher than your opponent's offensive attack-roll in order to evade the attack. See: "Offensive Section" for details on this ruling (it is the previous ruling in this book).

Note

For explanations on combat, and how this is done, look up and read all the sections on combat in the C section of the Basic Rules Book.

Especially read up on: "Combat, Step by step procedure"
