Description:

Annihilation Strike?: Yes

Description: This huge owl appears brown and tan in color with feathers that rise up above its head, which gives it the appearance of having horns.

Eye color: Yellow-amber.

Eye shape: Large sized.

Feather color: Brown, tan and black. The mix of coloring on this magnificent creature is in a striped fashion.

Height: 10'-0"

Length: 12'-0"

Posture: Avian (like a bird, or relating to the family of birds).

Weight: 350 lbs.

Wing contour: Bird.

Wingspan: 36'-0"

Dislikes: Goblins, Trolls and Ogres. This creature will go out of it way to destroy such creatures.

Disposition: The Giant Great Horned Owl is nocturnal, hunting at night and sleeping during the day. They make their nests in sheltered areas, and often time in the hollows of great trees and cliffs. This creature can see very well and hear even better, allowing them to center in on other creatures with keen accuracy.

They lay from 1-5 eggs each year. Roll on the following chart to know how many eggs will be found:

%Roll: # of eggs:

01-02: 1

03-35: 2

36-90: 3

91-98: 4

99-00: 5

If a nest is found in the late winter (January or February), there will be a 90% chance of there being eggs in the nest (each egg takes an average of 33 days to hatch). If eggs are found in mid-february, there will be an 80% chance the eggs have already hatched into owlets.

The Great Horned Owl will attack a creature that attempts to steal its eggs, or take its owlets, which they protect viciously. It has been recorded, they have been known to kill a behemoth who would attempt to rob their nest of eggs.
